DIRECTIONS

This Wave Handbook lists major radio broadcasting stations operating in the world.

LW, MW, and FM transmissions are listed in alphabetical order by name of country. Major broadcasting stations in the major cities of each particular country are listed.

Shortwave transmissions are arranged in alphabeitical order by name of country, and target areas for transmissions are found vertically on each page (as per example listed below).

These areas are Europe, Middle East, Asia and Oceania, Africa and America. It is, however, possible at times to receive transmissions destined for one area in nearby area. It is to be noted also, that shortwave reception is affected by various factors, including sunspots, atmospheric conditions and other propagation disturbances. Thus, it is not always possible to receive each frequency indicated in this handbook.

Many broadcasting stations change frequencies to coincide with diffelent seasons or for other reasons. Detailed information on each broadcasting station may be obtained by making a request to the individual station.

All times are indicated in UTC (GMT). All LW, MW and SW frequencies are in kHz and FM frequencies in MHz.

Under the regulation, international broadcasting are to use SW, however, there are some stations broadcast LW, MW and FM. This list includes those stations, too.

It is also possible to find out the which station by each Freqency.

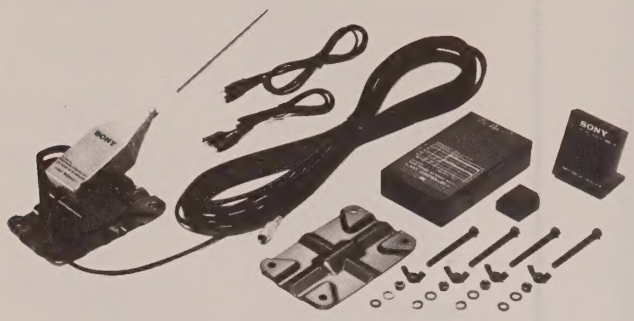
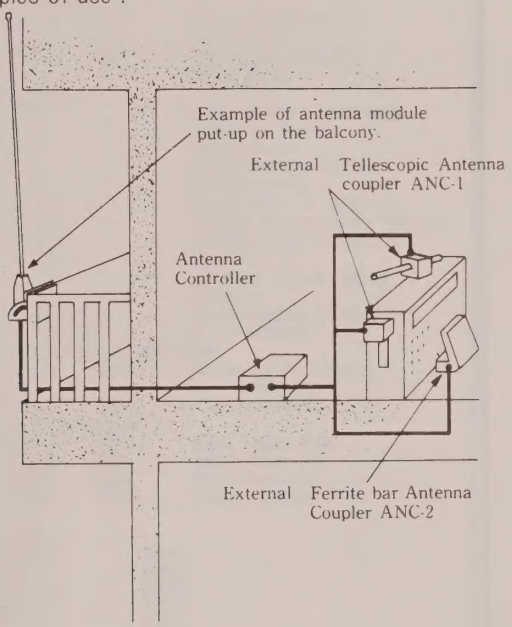
■ SONY ANTENNA

● Model AN-1



Model AN-1 ANTENNA is an ideal antenna for listeners who are not able to use longwire antenna. It's characteristics are:1)Signal to noise ratio and interferance prevention feature are supub.2)Wide reception coverage from LW-SW gives to listeners opportunity.3)It is compact and easy to put-up and also. The antenna module is made completely water-free.

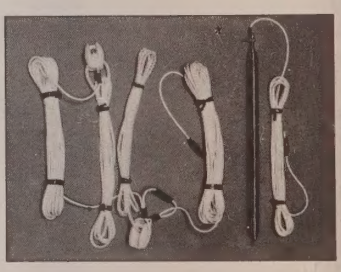
Examples of use :



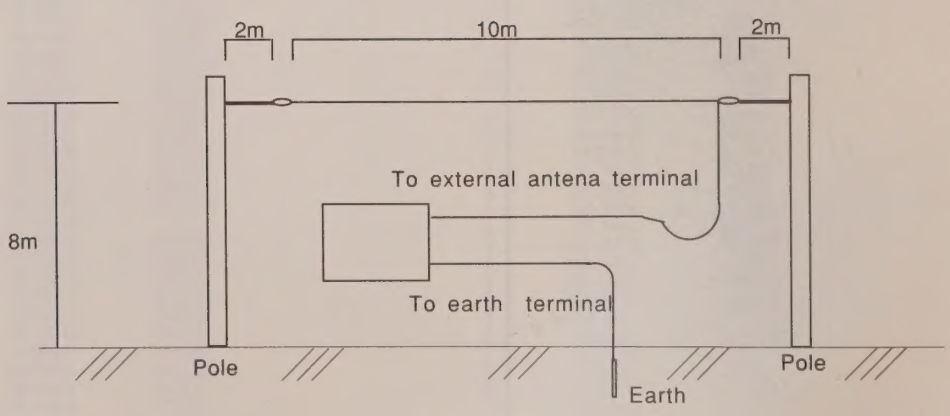
Example of antenna module put-up on the balcony.
External Tellescopic Antenna coupler ANC-1
Antenna Controller
External Ferrite bar Antenna Coupler ANC-2

Please use coupler in accordance with the type of reception band and receiver.
Please note that ANC-1 and ANC-2 can not be used simultaneously.

● Model AN-60



(Examples of use)



* NOTICE ON THE FREQUENCY AMENDMENT/ADJUSTMENT

The most strong point of shortwave on low power will reach to other side of the earth. However it has weak point,Seasonal change of weather may affect to frequency band of shortwave.

In summer,It is keep good relation on high number and also good for low number frequency in winter.

So, the each station has regular adjustments of the frequency four times in year by International agreements.

(The each first Sunday of March,May,September and November) and take occasional adjustment in case of happen Interference.

We recomend you memorandum, because they will advance announcements for change of the frequency.

They has plural frequency for each stations. You should make dial keep for best conditions. And also may keep same dial for frequency in good conditions for receive.

How to get New Data:

1. There is shown listed address of the station in this WAVE HANDBOOK, Please request by letter directly and you will get on a free charges.
2. There is also provided at Foreign Embassy at each country, they can available to send you if you ask and request to them.
   However in this case, you must pay some of charges.

*Information printed in this WAVE HANDBOOK is that of October 1990 to date.
